

Andrew Christman

Technical Writing • Help Center & Enablement • On-Site / US Remote • Open to Relocation (Self-Funded)

Available June 15+

andrewchristmantw@gmail.com • andrewchristman.com • github.com/andrewchristman linkedin.com/in/Andrew_Christman

Professional Summary

Writer targeting technical writing roles in help center and enablement. Portfolio includes a how-to guide with troubleshooting, a conceptual explainer for non-technical users, and a beginner quick-start tutorial. Strengths include audience analysis, information architecture, and revision based on reviewer feedback.

Technical Skills

Documentation: How-to guides, troubleshooting, conceptual explainers, tutorials

Workflows: Docs-as-code basics, PR-based review, version control, revision based on reviewer feedback

Tools: Markdown, Git (CLI), GitHub (PRs), VS Code, GitHub Pages with Jekyll

Portfolio

- PaperScorer How-To Guide — End-user workflow guide with troubleshooting and escalation for teachers scanning and uploading student answer sheets.
- Version Control and Git Conceptual Explainer — Conceptual explainer for version control and Git aimed at non-technical users.
- Markdown Quick Start — Beginner quick-start tutorial for Markdown aimed at non-technical users, including examples, practice tasks, and common mistakes.

Relevant Experience

Glendale Preparatory Academy, Peoria, AZ

Teacher (Middle & High School) — 2021–Present

- Created and maintained structured instructional materials and assessments for 60–110 students annually across multiple subjects.
- Translated complex, abstract material into clear, audience-appropriate explanations and revised content based on learner outcomes.
- Reviewed written work against expectations and provided specific revision guidance to improve structure and clarity.
- Managed deadlines across multiple simultaneous course preps while adapting to shifting priorities.

Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL

Philosophy Ph.D. Program — 2015–2023

- Produced a long-form research deliverable (dissertation) under advisor review—incorporated iterative feedback and advanced an original argument situated within the existing literature.
- Instructor of Record (3 semesters); Teaching Assistant (2015–2021).

Education

- Ph.D. in Philosophy, Florida State University — 2023
Specialization: Philosophy of Action
- M.A. in Philosophy, Texas Tech University — 2015
- B.A. in Philosophy, The University of Dallas — 2013